

Angelica Nagano & Robert Shaw

November 1, 2008

Phoenix, Arizona

Angelica and Bob met at work...not an uncommon place for two people to find one another. Bob saw Angelica on her first tour through the building BEFORE she was even offered the job she almost didn't accept. But when fate is working for you these things smooth themselves out, and Angelica and Bob decided to marry.

In a traditional Catholic ceremony they joined their lives together surrounded by friends and family who came to witness and pledge their support. After the ceremony, the bride and groom left to take pictures while the guests enjoyed hors d'oeuvres, cocktails and the beautiful day.

A fall wedding provides great colors from which to choose, and Dianna and Melissa of Table Tops, Etc., did a superb job with the décor. They draped the ballroom with a light gold fabric providing wonderful reflected light for the centerpieces of burgundy dahlias, red mokkara orchids, red James Story orchids, purple Bombay orchids, purple wax flowers and gold curly willow that swirled inside the vases. The clear LED lights hidden in the river rock at the bottom of each arrangement complemented the reflected light from the candles on the tables. They thought of everything from the orchid motif menus under the gold rimmed glass chargers to the replica wedding cake Godiva chocolate favors. But, the pièce de resistance was the groom's cake! Ella of Classic Cakes & Confections outdid herself with a life-size football emblazoned with the Philadelphia Eagles' logo on the side.

After the first dance, toasts and cake cutting it was time to start the party! Bob and Angelica's band, Instant Classics did a great job of getting everyone out on the dance floor. Even the bride and groom, who initially planned to leave early, stayed to the very end.

Angelica and Bob were married and their day was perfect.
